INTERESTING INSURANCE

In the Court of Appeal some months ago, before the Master of the Rolls and Lords Justices Romer and Mathew, the following interesting insurance case was decided :-Stuart c. Freeman .- This was an appeal by the Plaintiff asking for judgment or a new trial in an action which ans heard before Mr Justice Ridley and a Special Jury in April last, when judgment was given for the Defendant, who was the Manager of the General Life Assurance

Mr Eldon Bankes, K.C., and Mr Arthur Powell, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff; Mr Duke, K.C., and Mr Ellis Hill for the

Mr Stuars, by whom the action was brought, was the assignce of a policy of insurance effected upon the life of the Hon. Francis Charles Lawley for £2500, granted by the General Life Assurance Company in November, 1899. By the terms of the policy the premiums were payable quar-terly, and in the event of any premium being in arrear more than 30 days the policy was to become void. On Septemhor 17, 1991, the quarter's premium due on August 18 had been in mrear 39 days. On September 18 the Phintiff paid. the Defendant give a receipt the premium then overdue. At the time of the payment the Hon. F. C. Lawley had died-namely, at two o'clock on September 18, though the fact of his death was unknown to both the Plaintiff and the Defendant. The Defendant refused to pay substantially on the ground that the acceptance and receipt of the premium for the insurance of the life of a mersun who was then dead could not possibly extend the policy which, by reason of the arrear of payment, had temporarily lopsed. At the trial the Paintiff pleaded that in fact the policy had not lapsed or become void. It was a policy for a year, the premium for each such period being payable in four equal instalments for convenience only, and, therefore, the acceptance of the instalment of premium, though overdue when paid, by an agent of the Company, precluded the Defendant from pleading any such defence. on the Government Ground adjoining the Evidence was also given that on a former Racecourse, North of the Grand Stand occasion, when the premium was paid a day late a clerk to the Company had informed the Plaintiff, after he had inquired from the manager if he might take the premium, that the premiums would be accepted if paid a day or so after the 22 days of grace had expired. The learned Judge only left to the Jery the question whether the conversation alleged by the Plaintiff to have taken place between his clerk and the clerk to the Insurance Company had; in fact, taken place, and they answered that in favour of the Plaintiff. The learned Judge, however, entered judge ment for the Defendant, helding, as a matter of law, that there was no liability on the Company to pay upon the policy, which, by reason of the condition as to payment of the premiums within 30 days of their he-coming due, had become void. From that judgment the Plaintiff appealed, and there was a cross appeal by the Defendant on the finding of the July. The Master of the Rolls said the ground of the appeal was that certain material questions had not been left to the Jury, and it was necessary for them, therefore, to see if there was evidence that would have supported a verdict for the Plaintiff had these questions been left to the Jury to

GROUND FLOOR of No. 4 BLUE return an answer on. It seemed to him that there was ample evidence to go to the Jury on the question of the authority THE HONGKONG LAND INVESTof the clerk to accept the premium on the 31st day, as there had clearly been an arrangement between the parties that the days of grace should be extended one day. Therefore it must be taken as if the premium had been a payment made within the 30 days of grace, and that the Jury ODOWNS at WANCHAI, with Pier would have so found. On that finding a nice question of law arose, whother payment within the 3 / days of grace, although made, in fact, after the death of the assured, was in law a good payment when the death of the assured was unknown to either party. In considering that point it was necessary to consider whether the payment was one of a series on a policy current, or was a payment to renew or revive a policy that had lapsed. Here the policy on the assumed finding of the Jury SEVERAL newly-built HOUSES at Moraison Hill Gap. Cheap EUROwas current, and, moreover, the payment was a quarterly payment of a policy effected for a year, which period had not expired. These being the admitted facts, The Undersigned will be glad to underit was not necessary to consider if the same considerations would apply in the event of the premium not being the fourth premium on a policy that was current. The conclusion the Court had come 2193 to was that this payment was a valid payment on a policy that had not lapsed, and, therefore the Plaintiff was entitled to reand by agreement the interest due was taken as £100. THE Health and Vigour of an individual de-pend upon the quantity and quality of the Blood. ### THIS BAD OLD WORLD.

In spite of what cynics say. There's many a hand held out to help Another on his way. The world is cold, And its idol is success; Yet it often steps aside for fear On the fallen it will press.

There's many a hero gives up his life In humble duty done,
With no hope of glory to shrine his name Past the setting of the sun.

Dearly the world loves dollars, and yet, In spite of its grasp and greed, There's many a dollar freely spent On the widow and orphan's need.

Bad as it is, with its vice and sin, This old worn world of ours, It bends with awe before pure things, And love and faith are powers.

It may fellow the winner with homage and Though his right lies in a fog; But there are plenty in it who'll boldly still Sand up for the under dog. -W. D. Nesbit, in Baltimore American.

DON'T WAIT.

The world will find worth out, they say, And don't you sit and wait, my boy; The say each dog will have his day, But don't you sit and wait, my boy, Some day when you are old and gray The world may think 'tis time to lay Rewards upon your plate-it may-But don't you sit and wait, my boy.

The world's intentions may be kind, But don't you sit and wait, my boy, For worth that waits is hard to find, So don't you sit and wait, my boy; The world may turn, some day, inclined To cheer the worth that lage behind, That through long years has hoped and

But don't you sit and wait, my boy. -S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Her 1d.

JUDGE SLOWLY.

It is not always an easy matter to judge correctly of the quality of things. Less than one in a thousand of us is capable of accurately estimating the worth of a picture; not more than one in a hundred the quality of a horse. In general, judgments rapidly made are of small value 'Did you ever notice,' recently inquired a visitor to an English University town of his companion, as they sat together on a verandah, that queer-looking old fellow with the idiotic face turned-up coat collar, and boots seven sizes too large, who passes here every morning at elsven?' 'Many a time,' replied the other, · He is Professor of Comparative Grammar to the University of ----, and speaks fourteen modern languages, to savenothing of his mastery of Greek, Latin, and Hebrew. The incident will serve to show the fatility of superficial judgment. Many judgments which pass nochall-enged are none the less deployably wrong, more especially in matters which require a practical tost. Who can say positively whether a certain medicine has the power to cure some particular undady or not without giving it a trial?

When the friend of Mr Michael Fitzpatrick, of 66, Forbes Street, Woolloomooler, Sydney, N.S.W., advised him to take Mother Seige i's Curative Symp for the cure of indigestion, he backed his advice with some excellent reasonsexcellent been use his judgment of that roundy was based upon actual experience of its merit. Says Mr Fitzpatrick in a letter written on the 20th June, 1902; 'For many years I suffered terribly from indigestion and biliousness, and spent journas on dectors' medicines and so-called enres; but without avail. In those days I had : 20 appetite, and the little food I ste turned sour on my stomach, causing severe attacks of heartburn. I was also troubled with pains in the chest, violent headaches, and habitual constipation. In fact, at one time or other I suffered from most of the symptoms which characterise a sluggish liver and impaired digestion. My worst affliction, however, was a total inability to obtain sufficient sleep. I would go to hed feeling worn-out and sleepe, but es soon as my head touched the pillow my brain would become unnaturally active, and I would think of every kind of subject, and roll and toes about between the sheets, listening to the Fish Market Clock as it chimed hour after hour, until all my porves were in a quiver-Then I would rise and walk the floor, backwards and forwards, the greater portion of the wight. For years I had been in this wretched state when one day a friend fortunately called to sue me. I was trying the hot water cure at the time, and was just in the act of drinking a cupful of steaming liquid. He asked me what I was taking it for. I described my troubles to him. and in reply to a further question informed him that I had not, so for, gained any relief from the hot-water treatment. He advised me to abundon it and try Mother Seigel's Curative ! Syrap instead. He gave me such excellent reasons for doing so that I accepted his adviceadvice which, I am thankful fto say, has had the very best results. After taking only one small bottle I felt very much better. As I continued to take the Syrup, so did I continue to improve in health, and in less than two months my cure was accomplished. That was three years ugo, and I have remained in good health ever since, which proves conclusively that it is not mere passing relief that Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup affords to sufferers from indigestion, but permanent cure. Now I am careful maver to be without a bottle of the Syrup on hand, as I take a dose occasionally to counteract the ill effects of my sedentary occupation-for I am a bootmaker by trade-and for this purpose I find it

THE NAVY LEAGUE.

Hongkong Branch Annual Meeting.

aunual meeting of the Hongkong branch of the Navy League, which was held yes- fore the public got it would, he supposed, terday evening in the City Hall. The other members of the Committee present were Messra B. Layton, M. W. Slade, R. C. Wilcox, Gershom Stewart, A. R. Lowe, W. A. Cruicksbank, and Captain G. C. Anderson (Hou. Secretary). The attendance of the Navy League, because, as had been members was not large. been circulated, said it showed that the Hongkong Branch had done active and energetic work since they last met. meeting this year had been fixed rather earlier as they hoped to be able by that means to get a fairly large aftendance. But it would seem that in Hongkong nothing less exciting than a new dock scheme or the malaria mosquite was abl to bring together a large audience. From the report it would be seen the committee had offered a prize of £50 to the Commander-in-Chief for the encouragement of gunnery in the ships on this station. That prize was effered absolutely unconditionally and without any restrictions whatever, and it had been a source of some regret to the committee that the authorities had not seen their way to accept the prize. After a delay of some months in answering their letter, which he presunted was due to the fact that the Admiral desired to communicate with the home authorities. they were informed that the offer was declined with thanks. It seemed regrettable that the authorities could not have seen their way to accept the offer, because there was no doubt that in the case of a naval struggle accurate marksmanship would count for a very great deal. In Great Britain recently a great deal of embasia an lad been witnessed on la half of so-called rifle clubs, and the nation had undoubtedly realised that on land was of the atmost importance that the menshould not merely be provided with guns but should be able to use them with precision and good effect. (Hear, hear, Well, if that rule held good on land how much more was it necessary that every oncouragement possible should be given to gunnery practice and aiming on board ship, where the difference between a hit and a miss might possibly have a very great bearing upon the decision of a big action The committee had also during the past year, as they had done for many years past, been pogging away upon the subject of pincy in the West River. That was a very important question. It not merely had a bearing upon the commerce of this port; it also had to be looked at from political and therefore a mival point of view. Disturbances of the neighbour ing provinces ought so far as possible to be kept within due limits. No doubt there was some risk that it disturbances of this kind were allowed to go unchecked certain Powers might be tempted-we ourselves might be tempted—to interfere in the in ternal affairs of China, and it was obviously desirable that before things got to that stage vigorous steps should be taken to keep those piracies within due limit, was glad to see that the Government of Hongkong had recently been interesting themselves in this matter, and they must hope that effective action would be taken in future and that those piracies, which had occurred so near our own waters in the past, would not recur. With reference to Weihaiwei, he thought since they last me various papers had been hid on the table of the House of Commons by Lord Cranborne, and it was quite obvious that all idea of making Weihniwei was altogether an undesirable decision, if it meant that the authorities were zoing to do their very utmost to place Hongkong in an absolutely safe position (hear, hear) -as regards forts and putting powerful modern breach loading guns into these forts (applause). thought it must be recognised as a fundamental-principle of naval strategy that it was the business of a fleet in war to keep at sea and pur as or watch the enemy's fleets; and it appeared to him absolutely necessary that Hongkong should be pu into such a position as to be capable of defending itself for some weeks at al events during the absence of the fleet (appliuse). He wished to see the forts at Devil's Peak proceeded with shortly, but so far as he had been abl to see for himself lately, it would seem' that matters there had come a standstill: He hoped they would very shortly have the satisfaction of seeing guns mounted there as there was no doubt it was a very important position for the defence of the Colony. They would very soon have amongst them Mr H. F. Wyatt who was coming out as an envoy from the Navy League in London. Mr Wyatt was doing this work purely out of patriotism receiving no remuneration whatever for hi efforts, and they had to thank Mesers. Gibb, Livingston & Co., agents for the Eastern and Australian line, and Messrs, Butterfield and Swire, agents for the Chira Navigation Co., for having promised to give a free passage to Mr Wyatt from Japan to Austulia. (Applance.) There was one point in connection with M Wyatt's visit to which he wished draw attention, and that was the fact that at the Board of Trade meeting he addressed at Montreal one and all the members present unanimously agreed to join the Navy League. Since then Mr Wyatt had been the means of establishing three new branches of the League in Canada. (Applause.) His earnest hope was that they would be able to secure the adhesion here of more mumbers and asociates in that Branch of the Navy League. At the present moment there wore some 207 numbers and 38 associates, He did not think that was altozether satisfactory having regard to the fact that there was an adult British male population in the Colony of over 1,200 people. They ought, seeing the importance of strengthening the hands of the Government, to do all in their power to secure more members and associates out here. In that connection he might mention that the head office of the Navy League had more than once during the past year written out arging them to get new recruits for the League, and, as a quarter of the subscriprions was sent home, the League desired more funds for carrying out its purposes and objects. Therefore it was important that they should secure the adhesion of more members and associates. He knew i was said by some, . What is the use of the Navy League! Are there not people who are paid to look after these things? Why should we trouble ourselves about these matters?" Well, he thought that by using a simple local illustration he would be able t show that that was a fallacy. He thought he would be able to show that simple because people were paid to look after things, it did not in the least follow that the public would get that. Purhaps he need nardly say that he referred at the present moment to the water question. (Applause), We had had in this Colony for years and years past a being known as the Water Authority-(laughter)-whose business it was to provide us with an efficient and Mr H. E. Pollock, K.C., presided at the | sufficient supply of water. Those people who took up the position that because a thing was paid for to be looked after thereargue that because the Water Authority, was paid to get the Colony a sufficient supply of water therefore we had plenty of water. The absurdity of adopting such a line of argument was obvious, (Applause). This water question also furnished a parallel to the action seen from the correspondence in the Press during the past few months, people who The Chairman in moving the adoption of considered they had not got a sufficient the report, which was held as read, having water supply agitated and wrote to the blessing. Press and the Water Authority demanding that they should receive an adequate surply of water. The Navy League was in upon that point by such authorities as Lord Charles Beresford, Admiral Rawson, that the supply of battleships and cruisers was insufficient, and was endeavouring, through the Press and by questions in the should obtain a sufficient naval strength to enable us to maintain that peace throughout the world so very important

The Navy League was by no means a jingo body. Their whole aim and object were that Great Britain should maintain such a la Race Ball was held on Thursday standard of strength as to enable her to night, in order suitably to wind up this hold her position and to carry on her com merce in security throughout the world It would be easy to point out much good work done by the Navy League, but, for the sake of brevity, mention would be made of only one small but very important example in which it seemed that the Navy | racecourse. League had done most excellent work, In the Navy some two years or so ago there were on the ist kept by the Admiralty at home some 23 ships of an obsolete type, armed with muzzle-loading guns, and the Navy League said, and perfectly rightly, that there ships were little better than death-traps. For over two years past, the League had worked continuously at that question, and oally a month or two ago was able to announce that every one of these dangerous and nefficient ships had been taken off the list, (Applicuse). That was a very important result indeed to have achieved, and there could be no doubt, judging by the slowness with which Governments move in the ordinary way, that that action of the Navy League, ably seconded as it was by the in the Shau-Wu Prefecture, which lies Press, had been to a great extent instrumental in removing these obsolete ships from the Admiralty list, (Applause). Hongkong lately we had been considering and pondering over the so-called building collapses, and, as had been pointed out. it was a matter for serious enquiry that some 30 or 40 people had lost their lives through the collapse of buildings. But what a number of lives would have been at stake if those 23 ships had remained on the Government list; it would not have been a question of 40 or 60 lives at stake. out one hundred times that amount, or more. In such matters as these it was necessary that the Government should be kept up to the mark, for it did not in the least follow that because certain people were paid for doing certain work that that work would be performed efficiently. These views had the support of no less an authority than our late Premier, Lord Salisbury, than whom there was no other statesman of recent times more guarded and captions in the use of his words When the Conservative Administration was being attacked upon the inefficiency of the (Applease.) Concluding, Mr Pollock said it was very estrable that those of the British community in the Colony not associated with the Navy League should at once become members or associates of it. This was also approved. The re-election of Mr Pollock as chairman was proposed by Mr Gorshom Stewart, who said that for years past Mr Pollock had been most untiring in his efforts for the furtherance of the work of the Navy League. He had thrown his whole heart into the work, and so well had his energy been appreciated that they had elected him as their Chairman when he was ten thou-

MINING PROJECTS.

The vast stores of mineral wealth locked up for centuries in this Fukien Province are not likely to remain for over untouched, if the various plans for extracting them come to anything. Dame Rumour is busy with suggestions of several schemes, and one can only hope that all these my eventually materialise, and prove a profit both to their promotors and to the Chinese.

It is stated on good authority that the have applied for and oba mining concession for gold Fouchow on the border of Kiang Si, and that other nations are also trying to obtain similar concessions: The Japanese are said to be seeking to obtain powers to build a railway from Amoy to Foochow, and thence on towards Hankow. Then, again, in the South of the province, inland from Amoy, where good coalfields are known to exist, as well as any amount of iron, some enterprising Britishers have been spying out the land, and the talk now is of a railway from the Haimun, near Amoy, right up to these coalfields, passing the big city of Chang Chew on its way, and covering a distance, probably, of over 100 miles in all. If this comes to fruition, it will be an immense boon, and will open up a populous tract of country where the traffic, both by boat and by road, is enormous. In addition to vast acres of rice fields, a great deal of sugarcane is grown, while all kinds of fruits. oranges, pumelous, pineapples, Dragons' bananas, &c., afford a good market | The 'Kowshing' Indomnity.

The proceedings opened at three o'clock, though the Amoy Taotai with his numerous ratinge, and the other Mandarius who accompanied him, were in the school buildings an hour earlier, carefully inspecting the class-rooms, and praising the roominess and cleanliness of everything. An exhibition of the work of the students was on view in an upper classr-oom, consisting of maps, drawings, penmanship, typewriting, shorthand, compositions in English and Chinesel: and many of the exhibits [wonunstinted praise. A substantial rea was provided for the many visitors, after a 'squad' of the older boys had gone through a capital display of drill in English fashion and some sword-stick exercise. Much credit is due to the Assistant Master, Mr Graham Cumming, for his careful training neatness and precision of the display.

At four o'clock, a move was made to the | Allowance, Taels, ..... Lecture Hall for the distribution of the prizes. &c. The exercises concluded with the singing of the Hymn, 'Abide with me,' and the Benediction. Before the students separated, however, their certificates were given to them, showing their progress during the term, and their success in the examinations. It was pleasant to see so many of the Amoy Community present, and to know that their interest in the College is so manifest and real. Both students and teachers alike were especially glad to welcome the Amoy Taotal and his coll eagues, and I must not forget to mention that the Taptai presented a large number of valuable prizes, which the boys will get Altogether, the Headmaster and hi fellow-workers are to be congratulated upon the success of this, the first, public breaking-up party, as well as for progress of the school and the good work it is doing in Amoy. The number of students on the roll during the year is 130, at each Range. though the actual number presenting the nsolves for examination at the end of the Term was about 95. It is fully expected that the opening of next Session will show a marked increase.
